

The Federal Communications Commission

Dear The Federal Communications Commission,

I do not want to pay more for my telephone service! I urge you to reject a flat fee proposal that would change how contributions are made to the Universal Service Fund. I am concerned that this proposal could make my current service unaffordable.

Under the flat fee proposal you are considering, people who make few long distance calls would pay the same as people or businesses that make many calls. In other words, low-volume and primarily residential customers would bear the same universal service fund burden as a high-volume residential or business customers. This is unfair!

I use my wireless phone for safety, security and convenience. I don't want to lose these benefits so that big businesses can pay less than their fair share. I urge you to reject the proposal to move the USF collection system to a flat-fee.

Keep the USF Fair!

It seems everytime the government wants money they come after the working individual. Throughout the country's history it has been the same since the Boston Tea Party.

Tax those that get the most use. I have no objection to paying a tax, that in turn is to my benefit, however, I barely use a cell phone and I don't feel that I should pay anymore fees for a service that I use only for emergencies.

Sincerely,

Jody Natoli
